

Population (2008)

In 2008, the US population added to 4.5% of the total world population

Crude oil consumption (2008)

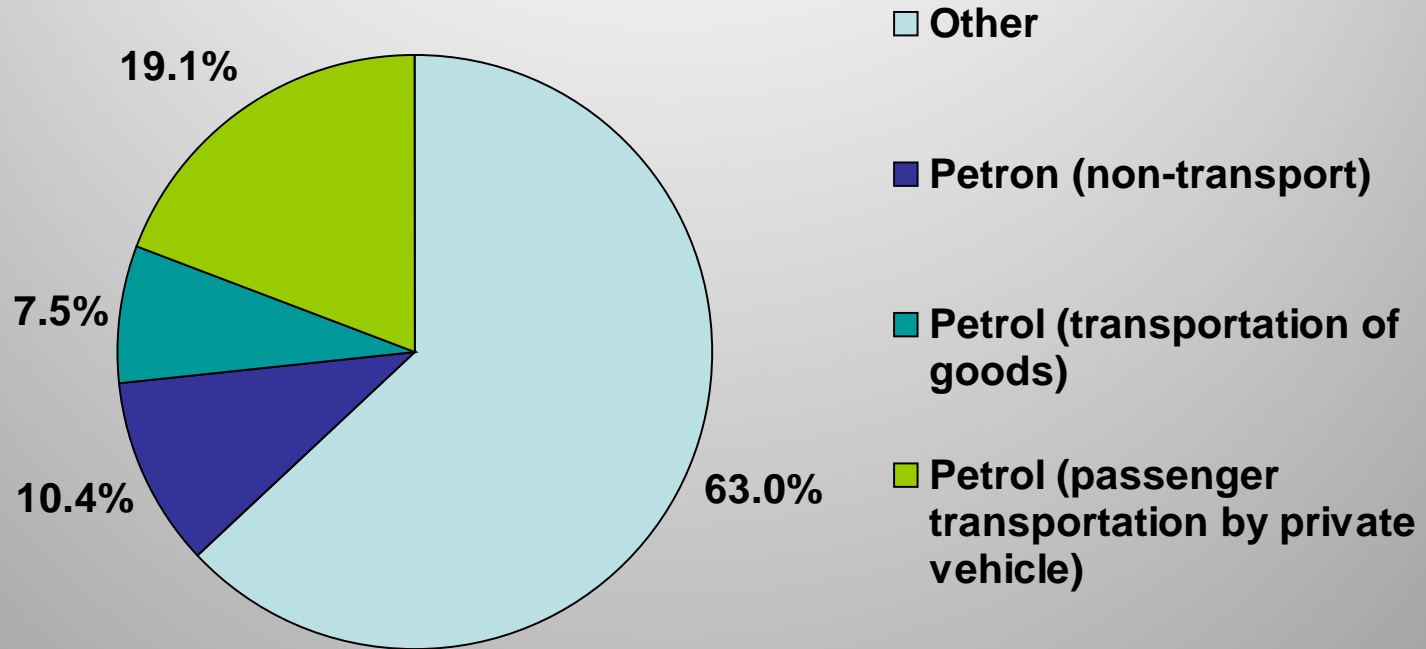

Of the 3927.9 Mt of crude oil consumed in the world in 2008, the US consumed 884.5 Mt (22.5%)

Total energy consumption in the US by sector (2003)

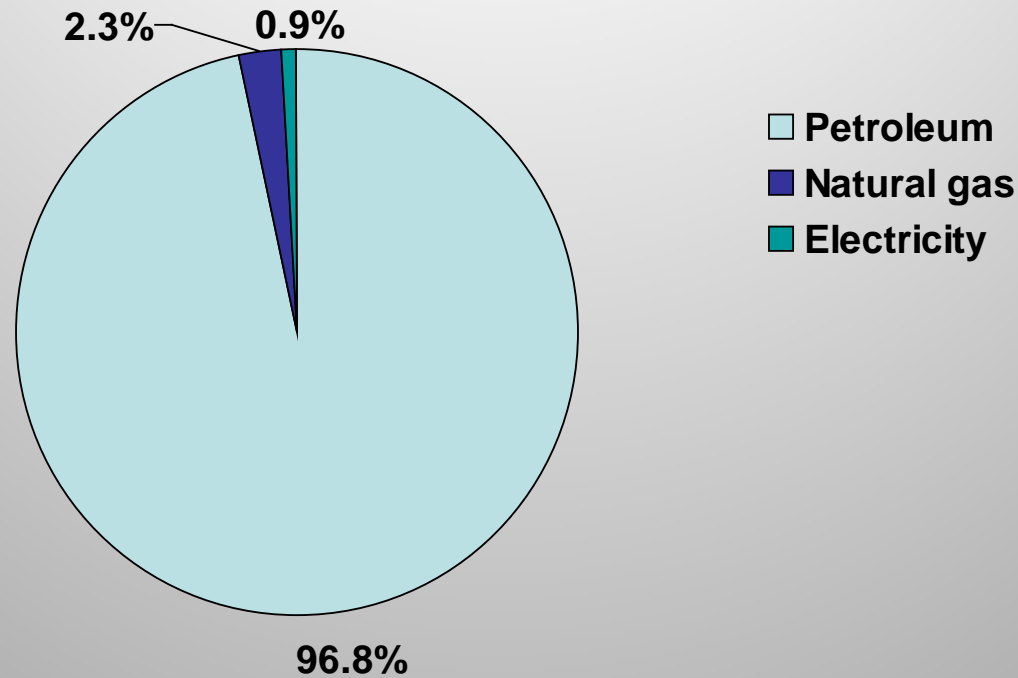

Of the 98.2 Quad Btu of total energy consumed in the US in 2003, 27.0 Quad Btu (27.5%) was used for transportation

Total energy consumption in the US by fuel (2003)

Of the 98.2 Quad Btu of total energy consumption in the US in 2003, 36.3 Quad Btu (37%) came from petroleum, of which 26.1 Quad Btu (26.6%) went into transportation. Of these, 18.76 Quad Btu (19.1%) was used for personal transportation.

Energy consumption for transportation in the US (2003)

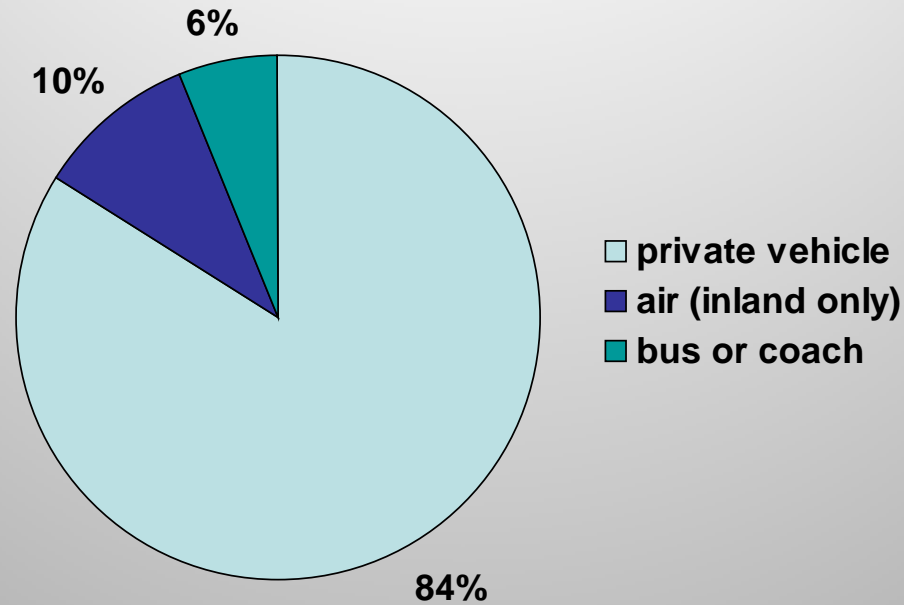

Of the 27.0 Quad Btu used for transportation in the US in 2003, 26.1 Quad Btu (96.8%) came from petroleum

Crude oil production and consumption in the US (2003)

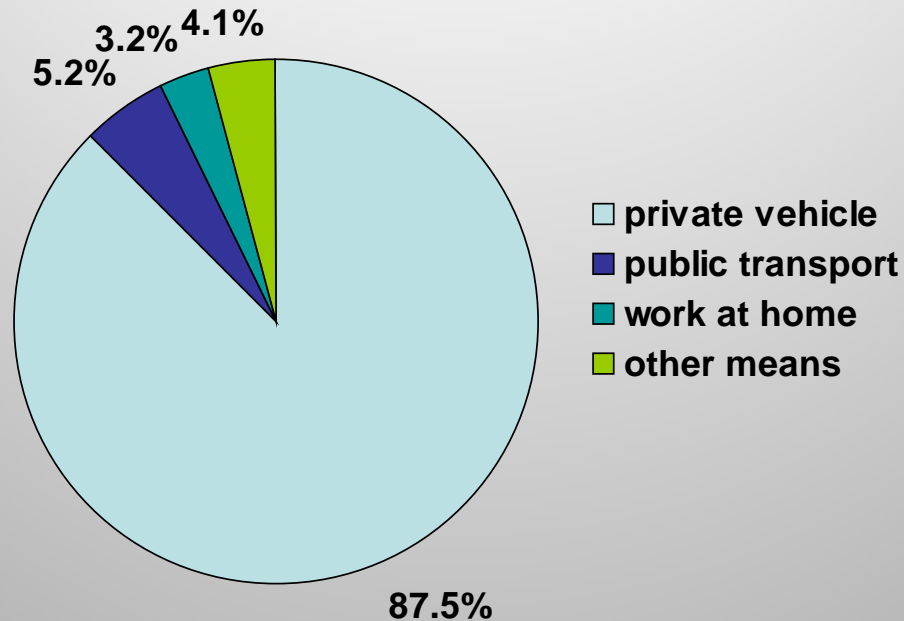

By 2003, the US crude oil consumption of 20 million barrel/day had to be satisfied by importing 12.6 million barrel/day (63%).

Mode of travel in the US (1995)

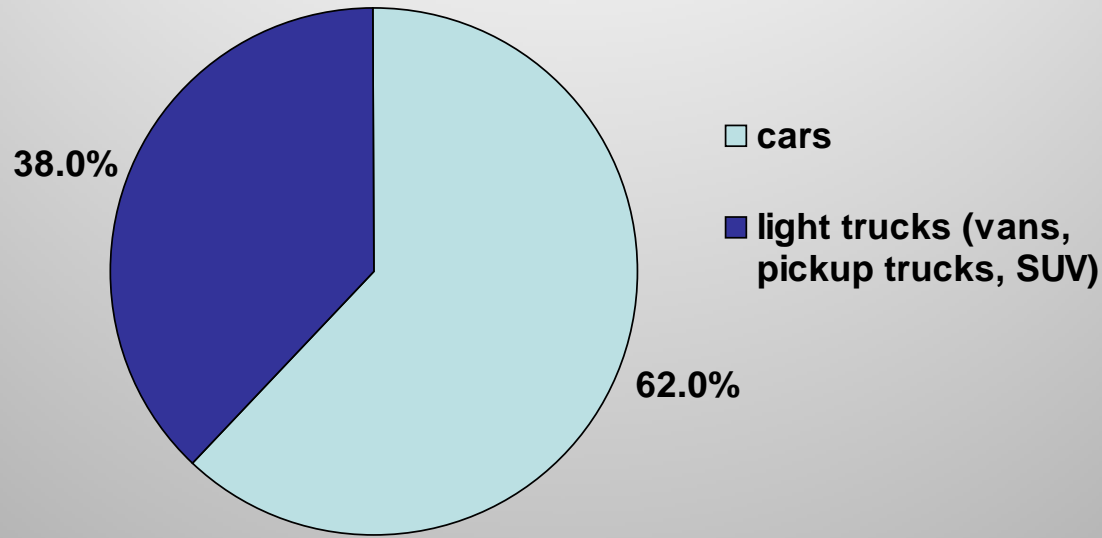

In 1995, the total average annual travel per person by all modes in the US was 21,000 km, of which 17,600 km (84%) were done in private vehicle

Means of transport to work in the US (2000)

In 2000, 87.5% of all commuting to work was done in a private vehicle

Light-weight passenger vehicles in the US (2003)

In 2003 there were 231 million passenger vehicles in the US, of which 62% were cars and 38% light trucks (vans, pickup trucks, and SUV)

World CO₂ emissions from use of fossil fuels (2007)

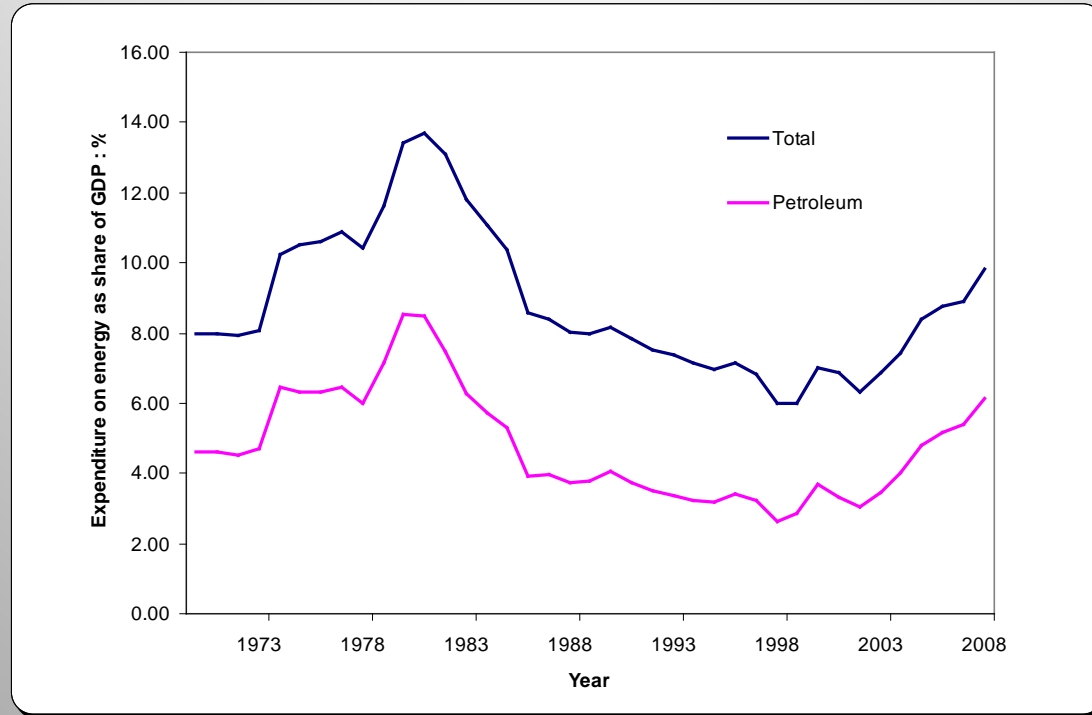

In 2007, total world CO₂ emissions from the use of fossil fuels added to 26.4 G ton, of which 8.4 Gton (31.8%) came from the USA

US CO₂ emissions from the use of fossil fuels (2007)

In 2007, total CO₂ emissions from all sectors added to 8.4 Gt, of which 2 Gt (23.8%) came from transportation

Expenditure on energy in the US (2003)

In 2008, 9.81% of GDP went into expenditure on energy (1,400 billion $). The expenditure on petroleum for the same year was 6.13% of the GDP (874 billion $)

Federal Budget and Recovery Act for FY 2010

For the FY 2010 the Federal Budget and Recovery Act add to 1,512.7 billion $, of which 671.1 billion $ (44.4%) is assigned to the Department of Defense

